Warmest greetings and congratulations to the graduates of Cagayan State University on your commencement exercises of School Year 2014-2015, as well as to your parents and guardians.

Without a doubt, this graduation is a significant milestone in your lives. It is a momentous event and an occasion of great joy at having accomplished the prescribed requirements that entitle you to a college diploma.

At this point what you ultimately want for yourselves and what your parents and loved ones really want for you are basically a good life and a good livelihood. Two things can greatly increase your chances of achieving them: HARD WORK and EDUCATION.

The link between hard work and success is obvious and beyond question, while education is the lifelong process of learning, unlearning and re-learning.

Hard work and a continuing education hold the promise of a financially rewarding, stable livelihood and an abundant life filled with rich possibilities, where you can develop your full potential as human beings.

I wish you all the best of luck, as you start your exciting venture into the big, wide and real world.
